A good friend and also a great teacher, you helped many of us students with our individual problems and gave some excellent advice. You put in many hours of hard work and many anxious moments throughout your years at Purchase Line both with teaching and with your other activities. For these reasons and more, we, the seniors of '66, dedicate this yearbook to you, Mrs. Sandra Darling.

Our new name is Purchase Line School

The Purchase Line Board of Education: Clarence Edwards, Laurence Lloyd, H. B. McGee, Helen Duff (secretary), John Thompson (vice-president), Clyde Baker (president), George Fleming (treasurer), John Riddle, Eugene Goss, Siviter Harbrige.

District as of 1965

President Clyde Baker

Vice President John Thompson

Secretary Helen Duff

Treasurer George Fleming

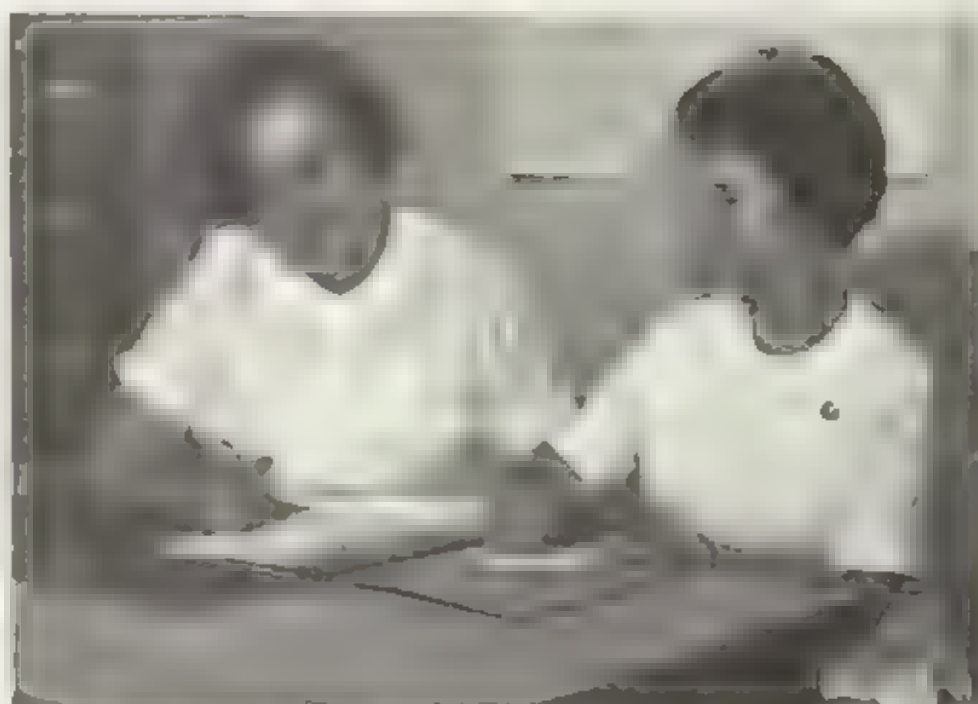

Mr. John McElhoes, Supervising Principal

Members of the Board take a coffee and cookie break before getting back to the business of the day.

Our Guidance directors, Mrs. Wellen and Mr. Ober, discuss the possible future of a student from his record cards.

Without our patient school nurses, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Keating, we could not have such an efficient health program. Our cuts and sprains and aches and pains are well cared for!

Mrs. Henry, Miss McDonald, Mrs. Bathurst, and Miss Freedline take a break from their secretarial duties.

Come wind, rain, sleet, hail, teachers, and whatnot, Barb Freedline still manages to distribute the P. L. mail every day.

SHORT SKIRTS; LONG HAIR

Two of the Minor Problems

After two years as principal of Purchase Line High School, Mr. Raymond W. Lemaster has tackled issues much more serious than short skirts and long hair; for example, the problems of the school calendar, majorettes, extracurricular activities, anxious parents and open House to name but a few. Besides keeping our school on a well organized basis. Mr. Lemaster has been kept busy chasing "Little Ray" around the gym during games, and has recently become the proud father of a daughter, Elizabeth Ann.

Mr. Raymond W. Lemaster, Jr., principal of Purchase Line

Mr. Lemaster and his secretary, Miss McDonald, sign checks for referees of basketball games.

The Bucket Brigade.

In the evening after all the students have gone, the activities of a school are not yet complete. The cleaning ladies are just beginning the long, wearisome job of keeping clean the P.L. building. This invaluable task continues throughout the next day as our custodians--bearing a broom, a ladder, or a light bulb--traverse our hallways, leaving behind a scene of brilliance and order.

Planning a good, nourishing thirty cent lunch that everyone will eat and enjoy is but one of the problems our cooks must face each day. Add to this broken milk bottles, too few desserts, and pepper sprinkled in the salt shakers, and you have some idea of the problems of Mrs. Green and the cooks.

Learning To Teach

And Teaching To Learn

The student teachers mean much more to the students than mere instructors; they are friends—someone nearer our own age with whom we can share our school, and sometimes social, lives. They come with the newest ideas and methods, thus modernizing the curriculum and increasing the experiences of each student in their classes. This year's student teachers at Purchase Line are, without a doubt among the finest.

North or South

Often the busdrivers are taken for granted and just casually accepted as a natural part of school life. Seldom do students realize how much we must rely on them and what headaches they face each day such as noisy, ill-mannered students and poor road conditions. The busdrivers at Purchase Line, under the guidance of Mr. Schutte, transportation supervisor, are generally known for their cheerfulness, courteousness, and safe-driving.

TEACHERS ONLY

CURRICULUM

Mrs. Jerko begins Senior English from the ground up.

English class is more than just subjects, verbs, and spelling words. It's the vital link in the long chain of events leading to the ultimate goal: success. Through English the student gains a better and all-important understanding of his native language. By reading great pieces of literature like "The Odessey", "Silas Marner", "Julius Caesar", and "Macbeth", he profits through the experience of others, thus gaining a greater knowledge of life. Through speech class and the senior play, the student develops poise and self-confidence.

The following composes the English department: Mrs. Jerko, Senior English, Business English, and Speech; Miss Miller, Junior English; Mrs. Gorman, Sophomore English and Senior Play; Mrs. Boslet, Freshman English; Miss Hurd, Eighth Grade English, and Mrs. Divens, Seventh Grade English.

Sharon Wright shows off the art of demonstrative speaking.

Participles, Prepositions, Pronouns

Miss Miller checks her Junior's vocabulary knowledge.

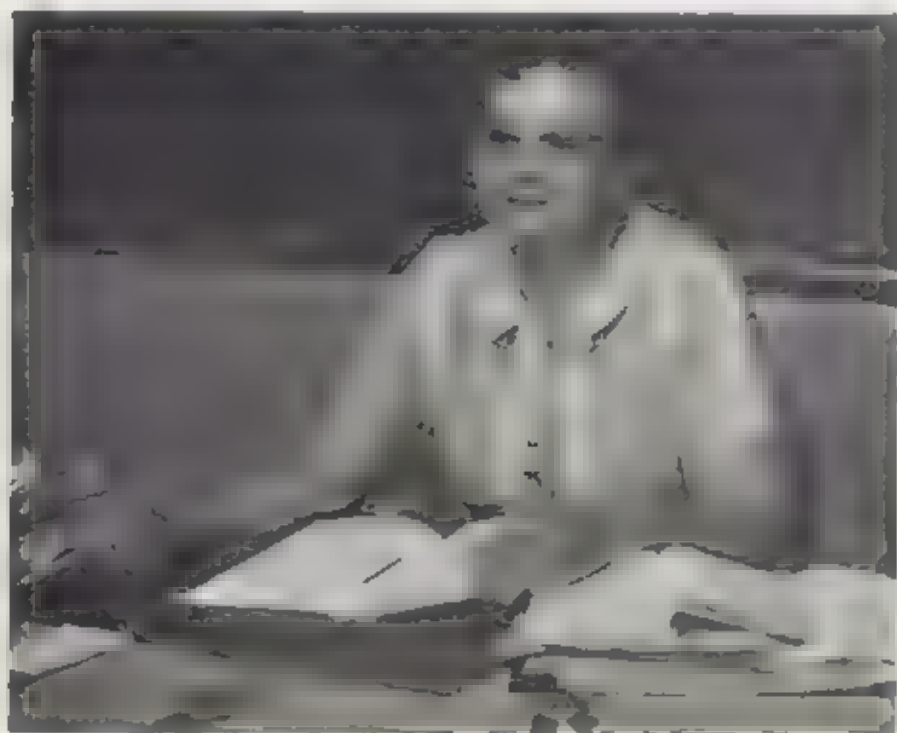

Miss Hurd lectures her eighth grade students on grammar.

Silas Marner will be read by Mrs. Gorman's Sophomores.

Mrs. Divens takes a five-minute break from her seventh grade English classes.

The results of a pop-quiz are being returned by Mrs. Boslett to her Freshmen.

"Mucho trabajo" for the Spanish II students.

espanol-francais

Hardworking French I students drill on the art of speaking everyday French.

In this modern world it is no longer adequate to have knowledge of only one language. The world is fast becoming smaller through world trade, disputes and agreements between countries, and a vast increase in world travel. Greater knowledge of the languages and customs of other countries is fast becoming an absolute must.

French and Spanish are among the five most widely spoken languages in the world today. Through our foreign language department, students have the opportunity to study these two languages while at the same time become acquainted with the countries and people to whom these languages belong.

There are various projects in this department throughout the year. Among them are: a sky show conducted entirely in French at Buhl Planetarium in Pittsburgh, an assembly for the entire student body, and the singing of French and Spanish carols during the Christmas season.

Mrs. Darling shows her French II students how to pronounce a nasal "en."

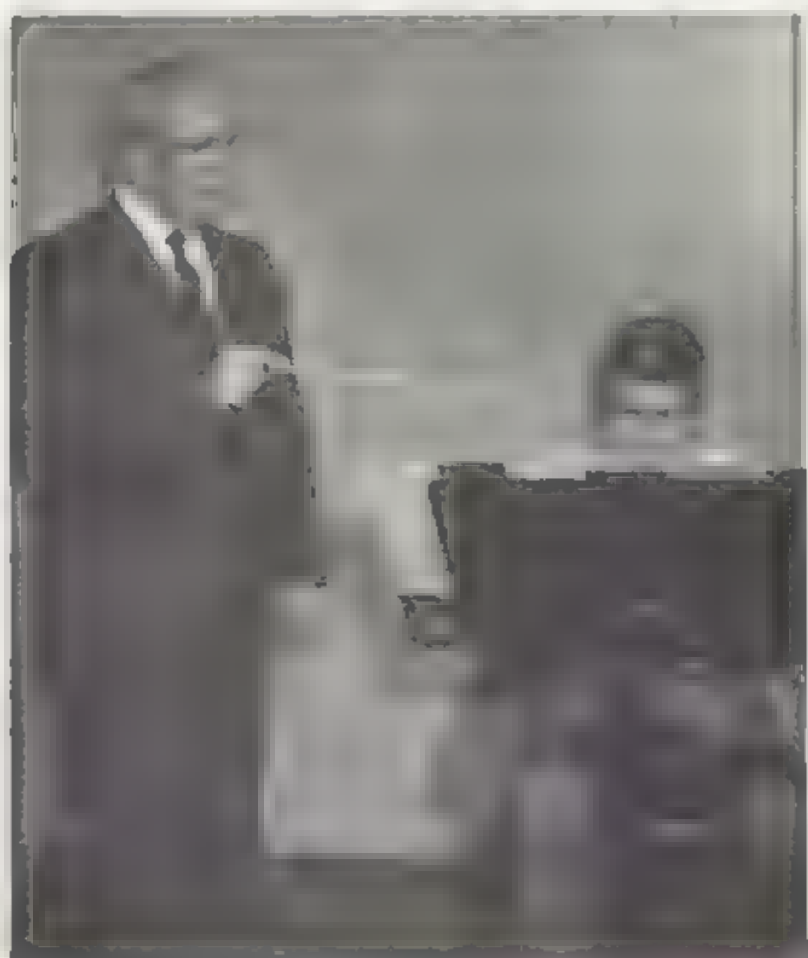

PAINTBRUSHES AND BATONS

As head of the Art Department at Purchase Line, Mrs. Hanna spends many long hours instructing students in their various individual and class projects. It is due to her guidance and help that our students turn out good projects such as those displayed on her bulletin board.

Mr. Cronk, our band director, keeps Sterry on the ball practicing with his trumpet. It's not unusual to see the students practicing on their instruments; they are a hard-working group of musicians who keep the band really moving at the parades and pep rallies.

Mrs. Craft, our chorus director, looks forward to future choruses as successful as those of the past. She has instructed our talented students in such activities as the Christmas program, the Spring Concert, County and District Choruses, and Commencement and Baccalaureate.

Base Numbers--Equations--Theories--Sets.....

Our mathematics teachers are devoted entirely to a new system, "Modern Math." They feel that it is almost impossible to over-estimate the importance of math since it is becoming increasingly essential in all professions. Engineers, scientists, businessmen, and laborers are learning new skills and applying them to their fields. High speed computers are increasing the creation of specialized positions for those who understand their intricacies. Thus P. L. math students have an opportunity to gain knowledge which will surely help them in their future work.

In the junior high studies are begun in the fields of the new math, and the students gradually work toward Algebra and related studies in the eighth and ninth grades. After this base work has been completed they study geometry, Shop Math, Business Math and advanced courses in their chosen fields.

Miss Bagley shows the eighth graders how set theory is used in their work.

The relation of ancient Egyptians numerical systems to our present day numeral is shown to all seventh graders by Mrs. Stevens.

New Math at the Line

"It's just simple common sense, so it is." Mr. Blose says so.

Who said math isn't fun? Mr. Sebastian, department chairman, thinks so!

Integers and their properties are the subject of discussion for Mrs. Costa's ninth grade Algebra I classes.

Mr. Peron seems to be enjoying some of the "specimens" in his ninth grade Science classes.

Mr. Walker tells his sophomores that this is a member of the Spermatophytes!

Potions, Lotions,

The fields of general science, biology, chemistry, and physics are combined to form our Science Department. (Biological sciences deal with living things, their structure, life processes, and environment while physical sciences are concerned mainly with the nature of the universe. These courses show us how scientists use the Cartesian theory. Projects provide us with a chance to be creative in science, and to apply known scientific concepts to fields that interest us. We can work individually to perform an experiment, to complete a collection, or to build a model. All of this helps us to gain an idea of what scientific research involves; it also provides us with an opportunity to further our education in a scientific career.

Some of the Seniors help (?) Mr. Kuntz resolve a few forces in Physics class.

Gary Shank waits his turn in Biology class as two other students put the microscopes to work.

Oh, come on, Mr. Repine. You can't expect us to believe that!

LOTIONS AND MAD SCIENTISTS--THE SCIENCES

Mr. Repine and two future NASA scientists test air pressure with the bell jar and vacuum pump

The Past, Present, and Future: Social Studies

Mr. Wise tries to persuade his eighth grade history classes that the earth really isn't flat!

Mr. Lenz seems to be planning a voyage to the New World for his Freshman class.

Our Social Studies department offers a many-faceted program to Purchase Line students. Seventh and eighth grade geography classes gain a knowledge of different countries' ways of living and geographical locations. Freshmen have civics and Pennsylvania History which instills in them a better understanding of our state's origin and the organization of the United States Government.

Sophomore World Cultures teaches the particular stage of advancement in civilization of ancient and modern generations. United States History fills the Junior year schedule with our country's history of its beginning and the way it has progressed through the ages from the early Jamestown Settlement of Virginia.

The last Social Studies courses offered in high school curriculum are Problems of Democracy and Economics taught to the Senior Class. Problems of Democracy deals with discussions of the world problems and how they could be solved; economics is the study of the way people make a living.

Mrs. Giles and Mr. Spingola take a breather from geography classes.

At Purchase Line on a World-Wide Scale

Juniors get a first hand explanation of government in action from Mr. Buchanan.

Ancient civilizations in the Near East are under discussion in Miss Bell's World Cultures classes.

Mr. Scott's P.O.D. classes review the news of the world.

Ready, Set, Type!

Mrs. Schrock gives Sal Kobllis some pointers on how to type.

The Business Education Department consists of approximately 150 students; 50 each from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. The students may obtain training in bookkeeping, shorthand, and clerical work.

The Future Business Leaders of America Club has a yearly membership of 100 or more students. Representatives from the club attend a fall workshop in Harrisburg, a fall regional meeting, and a spring regional meeting where they participate in skill contests. The winners attend the State Convention held in May.

The members of the F. B. L. A. edit and duplicate the school newspaper, The Linette, which is issued six times a year. The highlight of the year is a field trip to Pittsburgh to visit a large office and a business college.

"All fingers on home row," says Mr. Mahan.

Mr. Brocius in a pensive mood.

If You Can't Buy It, Build It!

A board is a board to Mr. Bezilla's shop classes.

Mr. Decker checks his students' lathe adjustments.

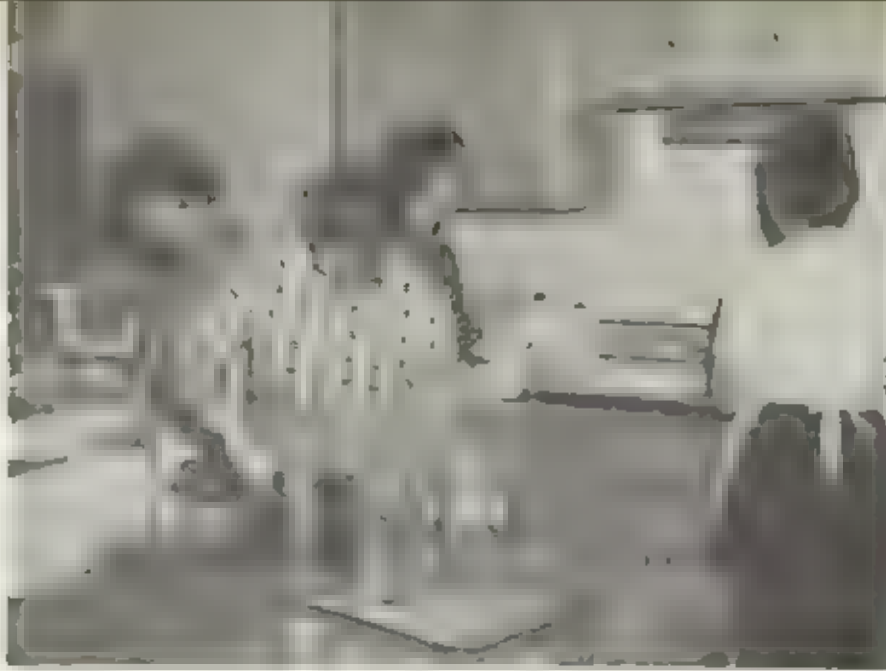

Metal Shop is the key to an exciting new world for sophomore boys enrolled in the field of Practical Arts. After intensive studies in such fields as sheet metal, foundry and machine work, they emerge with a clearer knowledge and a greater understanding of the role they may someday play in industry.

In their junior year the boys study drafting, a field which plays a more significant part in modern day industry each year. They learn basic skills--the all-important first step on the ladder to success. Also included in the junior year is work in machine woodworking which expands on skills learned in the junior high years and helps to encourage creativeness on the part of each student.

With the senior year comes Drafting II and a more intensive study of foundry and machine. Work in welding is also included.

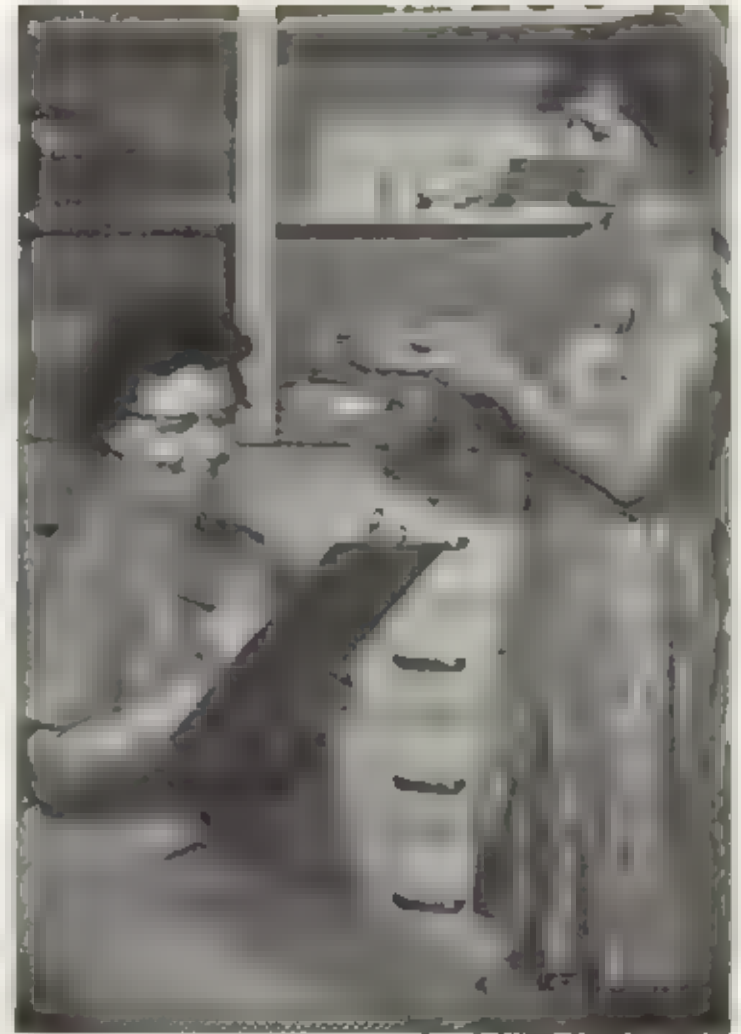

Jim Belford and Mr. Schutte solve a drafting problem.

Busy Home Ec. Students Prepare jams and jellies.

Home Economics gives the Senior and Junior High School girls a thorough study and better understanding of home and family living. By carrying out the procedures that the future homemaker will probably encounter, the girls will be prepared for their future lives as wives and mothers. In Junior High School, the students learn the fundamentals of cooking, sewing, and a mature, able method of babysitting. Some of the sewing projects they endeavor to do are aprons, popettes, skirts, and dresses. One of the Senior High classes' primary objectives is to learn the basis of proper diet and nutrition. The Homemaking department also takes great pride in displaying its creative works in the display case near room 123.

Mrs. Ober and Mrs. Frye seem to be enjoying their china inventory.

Home On--And Out On The Range

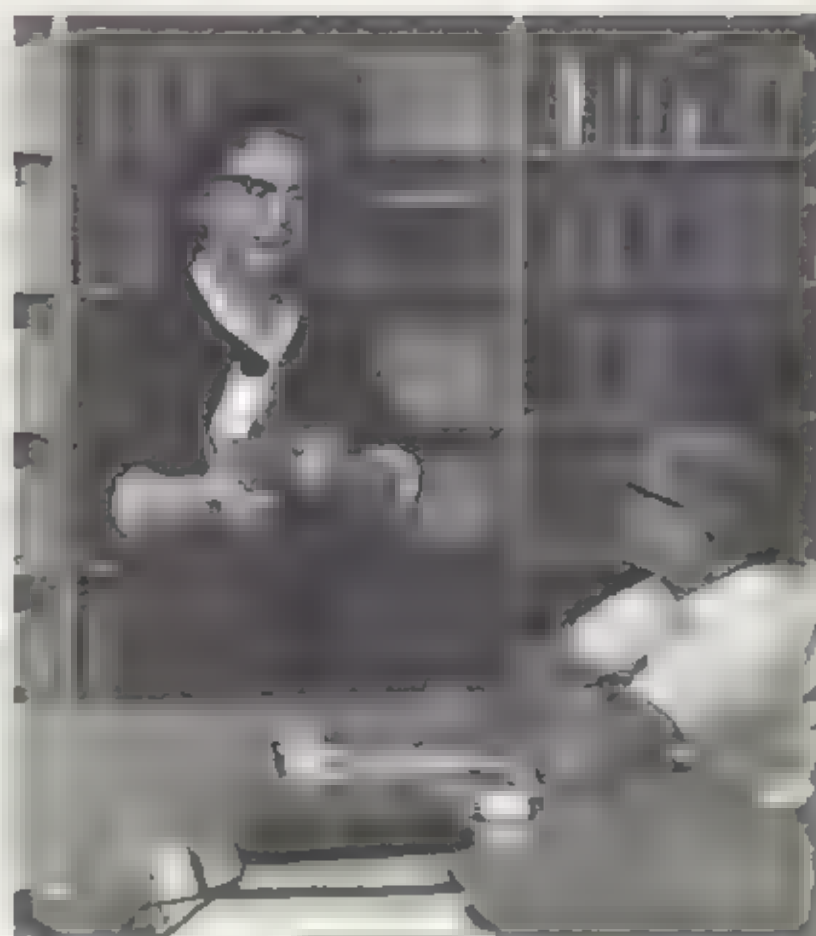

Mr. Gross and Mr. Fretts Check Out One of the Vo Ag greenhouse projects.

The Vocational Agriculture course's main objective is to train high school boys so that they may obtain a background in farming and many of the varied agricultural businesses. To do this, the Vocational Agriculture department offers a wide variety of subjects in the area of agriculture. Some of the subjects taught are: crop production, livestock production, management, which gives them a better conception of how farm businesses are operated, marketing, and agribusiness. During the course of the year, the students are offered different categories of projects to choose. One type is the production project in which the student does only one project. The other type is the production enterprise where a boy becomes involved on more than one project. The Vocational Agriculture student can also work on a supervised work experience project in which the student works on an agricultural-related business after school to earn wages and learn the basis of the business from a person of experience.

FLAT TIRES: LATE BOOKS

Mr. Lord, our Driver's Education teacher, pauses between accidents.

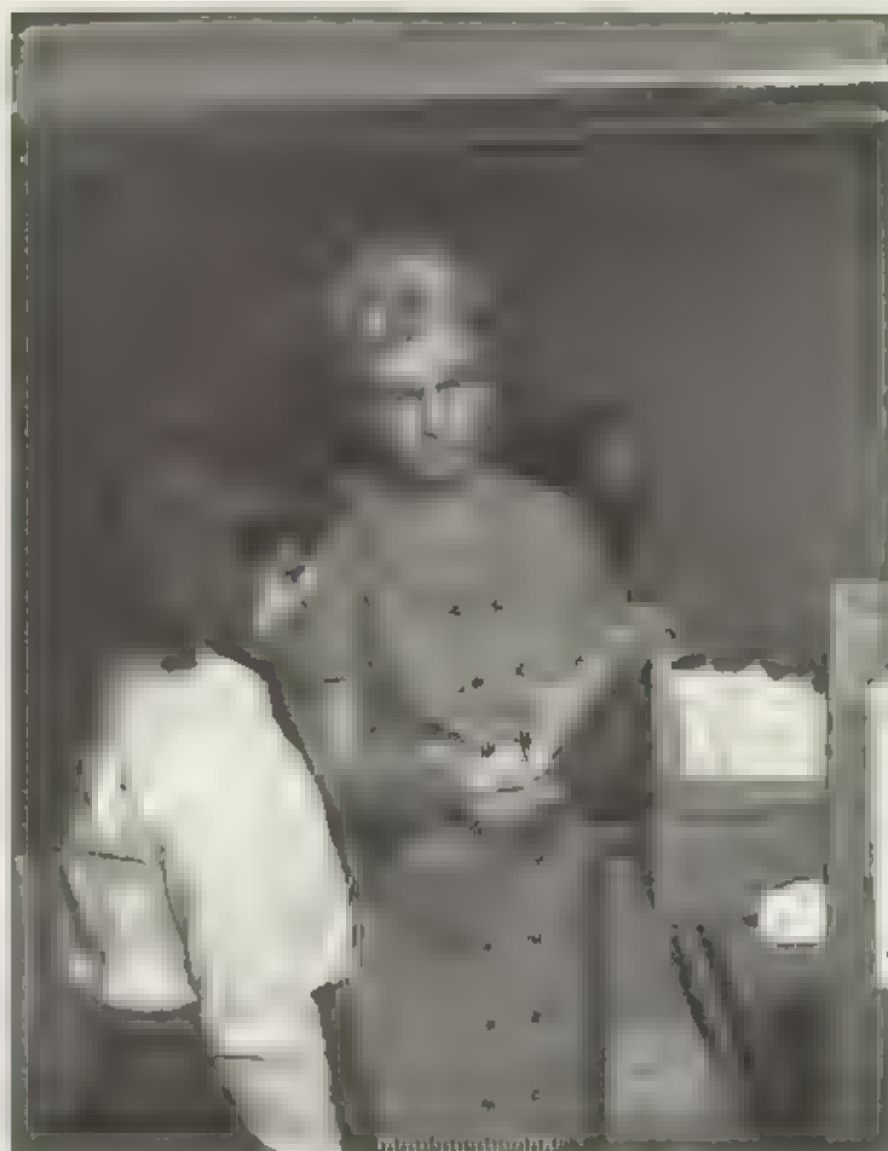

Miss McAnulty introduces the wonderful world of books to one of her seventh grade Library Science classes. The library, though always useful, is never in greater demand than at the time of senior research papers. The students spend hours at the vertical file, the card catalogue, the nonfiction shelves, and career files. Without our library, research papers and other projects would never get done.

Senior English students use their library know-how to help them in writing their term papers.

WHY JOHNNY CAN READ

Mrs. Walker teaches a student how to apply the four step process of perception, comprehension, reaction, and application to reading—a basic tool of education which opens the door to enjoyment as well as learning. Through reading, students acquire new ideas, obtain needed information, and broaden their interests.

The students from Rooms 120 and 209 learn skills on a wide variety of subjects. This year they have worked on projects such as pillows, seasonal paintings, and metal trays as an added spark to their classroom education. With the help of Mrs. Conner and Mr. Harshman, they prepare themselves for a more enjoyable and successful future.

LEARN TODAY--LIVE TOMORROW

Hygiene and Calisthenics and Balanced Diets

Hygienic inspections starts each Physical Education class that Mr. Madill teaches!

"Anyone for volleyball?" asks Mrs. McElhoes.

Mr. Bills confers with Mrs. Leonard concerning a few bacilli.

Competition in life demands adequate physical and mental health. In Health Class we are taught hygiene and its importance in our lives. By following these principles, we learn how to safeguard our health and make the best of it for the future. In physical education we are instructed in physical activities and sports of all kinds designed to improve posture, physical development, and general fitness. Physical education also provides fun and recreation. Programs in our physical education classes cover wide variety of activities. These include softball, football, soccer, basketball, and track as well as daily exercises. Because physical fitness and health are so closely related, we need both to grow properly. Physical fitness also contributes to a person's mental health; if we are physically fit, we tend to be more relaxed, more confident, and more determined to face difficult tasks than physically unfit persons. Sportsmanship, fair play, and social adjustment are also regarded as necessary parts of our program. By achieving the ability to combine these traits into smooth, effective action we are more capable of work and play.

ORGANIZATIONS

At Last! Curtains for the Cafeteria!

This year Student Council, sponsored by Mrs. Wellen, has been one of the most industrious organizations because of the many school improvements acted upon by its members. Thanks to the Student Council and Senior Class of 1963, the marquee in front of the school was purchased and erected during the summer. This year the Student Council bought drapes for the cafeteria, arranged to have relaxing music played during the lunch periods, operated the school store, collected money for the United Fund and received donations for the flower fund. Student Council conducted two dances during the school year. And, together with the Liner Staff, they sponsor the Easter Egg Sale in the spring of the year.

Members of this organization are elected by their classmates and serve during the school year elected. From Junior High homerooms, one representative is selected to represent each of the Junior High grades. The Council elects officers each year to help with the many duties connected with a successful governmental body. This year Thomas Henry was elected President assisted by Jean Bennett as Vice President. Darlene Brady voted Secretary and Elaine Anderson as Treasurer.

Our camera surprises George Berringer and helper as they sort letters for the roster.

Pins or Charms for N. H. S. Jrs. and Srs.

The members of N.H.S. are proud to have Connie Ober, DAR Good Citizen as one of their group.

The National Honor Society is an organization composed of students who are above average in their scholastic abilities. The N. H. S. meets once every two weeks. Mr. Walker has been the sponsor of the N. H. S. since it started at our school. The organization has had many activities during the year such as candy sales, a dance, pep talks, color and dress-up days, initiation, and the Seniors and Juniors have a choice of receiving either a pin or charm. Each semester the N.H.S. elects new officers, and each year sophomores with a B average in scholastic standings are brought in as new members.

Absently looking over his shoulder is his helper and companion (and the girl who does most of the work), Gloria Barrett. Everyone is paying strict attention to him, you'll notice, because he always has something inspirational to say (like "uh...").

Anyway, the yearbook was financed this year by the sale of Easter Eggs, the receipts of our two dances, the sale of yearbook covers, advertising, and the stray pennies we picked up in the halls.

The March deadline was also reached (at which time Mrs. Darling was approaching hysteria) and in spite of the combined efforts of our brilliant staff, the 1966 LINER proved to be a great success.

The Future Nurses' Club, under the supervision of Mrs. Keating, is an organization of senior-high girls interested in the medical profession. These girls have aided the nurse in fixing practically everything but sacroiliac. This year funds were raised through candy sales, Easter egg sales, and a dance, so that the club could tour Indiana and Shadyside Hospitals. The officers of F.N.A. are: Lois Repine, president; Virginia Crook, vice-president; Melanie Edwards, secretary; and Jean Bennet, treasurer.

The shock of finally being forced to study has led Karl Miller to the Future Nurses for medication.

Teacher of the Month Highlights of FTA

The Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Mrs. Jerko meet in Room 110 every week. At each meeting the program committee conducts an activity in which some lucky member wins a prize. As an additional gesture at Christmas time, the FTA members presented apples to the teachers. Seniors have their choice of receiving either a charm, pin, or tie tack. Annually the FTA sponsors a dance as well as a candy sale.

Mr. Kuntz samples an apple, FTA's Christmas gift to all the teachers.

Creative Sewing for FHA Girls

Under the guidance of Mrs. Ober, the FHA members work on several projects and participate in various activities throughout the year. Among these activities are candy sales, cookbook sales, and an annual dance. They also provide food and clothing for an orphan in Korea. The county FHA meeting and Mother-Daughter Banquet held at Purchase Line this year provided the girls with entertainment as well as excellent experience. Among the projects the girls worked on were first ples, dresses, and gowns; they also received helpful advice on marriage!

The Future Farmers of America is a club for only students in Vocational Agriculture. The club's activities supplement and coincide with subjects studied in Vocational Agriculture, all of which prepares the students for a career in Agriculture.

Club members are required to complete a project, which are divided into four areas - productive projects, work experience projects, home improvement projects, and conservation projects. Examples of productive projects are livestock production or crop production; work experience projects would consist of working for a commercial agriculture company such as Agway to train the student for a vocation; home improvement projects allow students to use their finances to make major improvements on the home such as landscaping the lawn, or remodeling and painting the house; conservation projects are concerned with the conservation of soil, natural resources or wildlife.

The club's yearly activities are to sponsor sales campaigns, sell commodities related to agriculture; hold an annual dance, at which time a chapter sweetheart is selected; participate in competition contests such as livestock and crops judging, parliamentary procedure, salesmanship, and public speaking. These contests are conducted on a local, area, state, and national basis. Usually, the club sponsors a community service activity such as planting pine trees to cover community eyesores. In January, the FFA attends the annual Pennsylvania Farm Show, and to culminate the year's activity, a father-son banquet is held to honor the fathers of the Future Farmers of America.

Vertical file project of Librarians

The chief activity of the library club is to act as a service club for the school during our school day. During the club's seventh period meetings on Friday, the club gives readings, poetry selections, and book reviews from their own outside reading. The club's means of raising funds are candy sales and fines. The Librarians have planned a new service to the school. A new vertical file cabinet has been ordered by them and is to be paid for by the funds now on hand.

Varsity Stars

Seniors Sport Cadet Jackets

The Varsity Club, consisting of athletes who have earned a varsity letter in basketball, football, or track, changed their jackets to the cadet style this year, in order to purchase senior jackets as well as letters for the underclassmen, the club sold refreshments at the basketball and football games. They also bought a new projector which is used to show movies of the team in action. Each year the members sponsor Varsity Night in which many faculty members show off their talents (?) to students and friends. In the future the Varsity Club plans to sell stationery which will have a picture of our football team on it.

To Eight Senior Majorettes and to Our First Drum Major

During the football season, our high-stepping majorettes could be seen leading the band across the field in half-time activities. These girls practiced long and hard in order to make not only the spectators, but also the team and the "Colonel" proud. This extended not only to football season, but to various parades and other activities.

During the summer, bake sales were held in various communities, and at the beginning of the school year, ten proud girls were showing off their navy bench-warmer coats and red P.L. letters. These letters show not only a majorette, but also each girl's name and year of graduation.

Wrestling & Basketball for Little Liners

This year's Junior High basketball team did not finish the season with as many wins as they wanted; but in all of their games, they showed lots of hustle and a very fine team spirit. Their 1-12 record does not show anything about the hard fought games that were lost in the later stages of the contest. Coach Artley did a fine job with this group of boys, and we feel that most of these boys will make fine basketball players in future years.

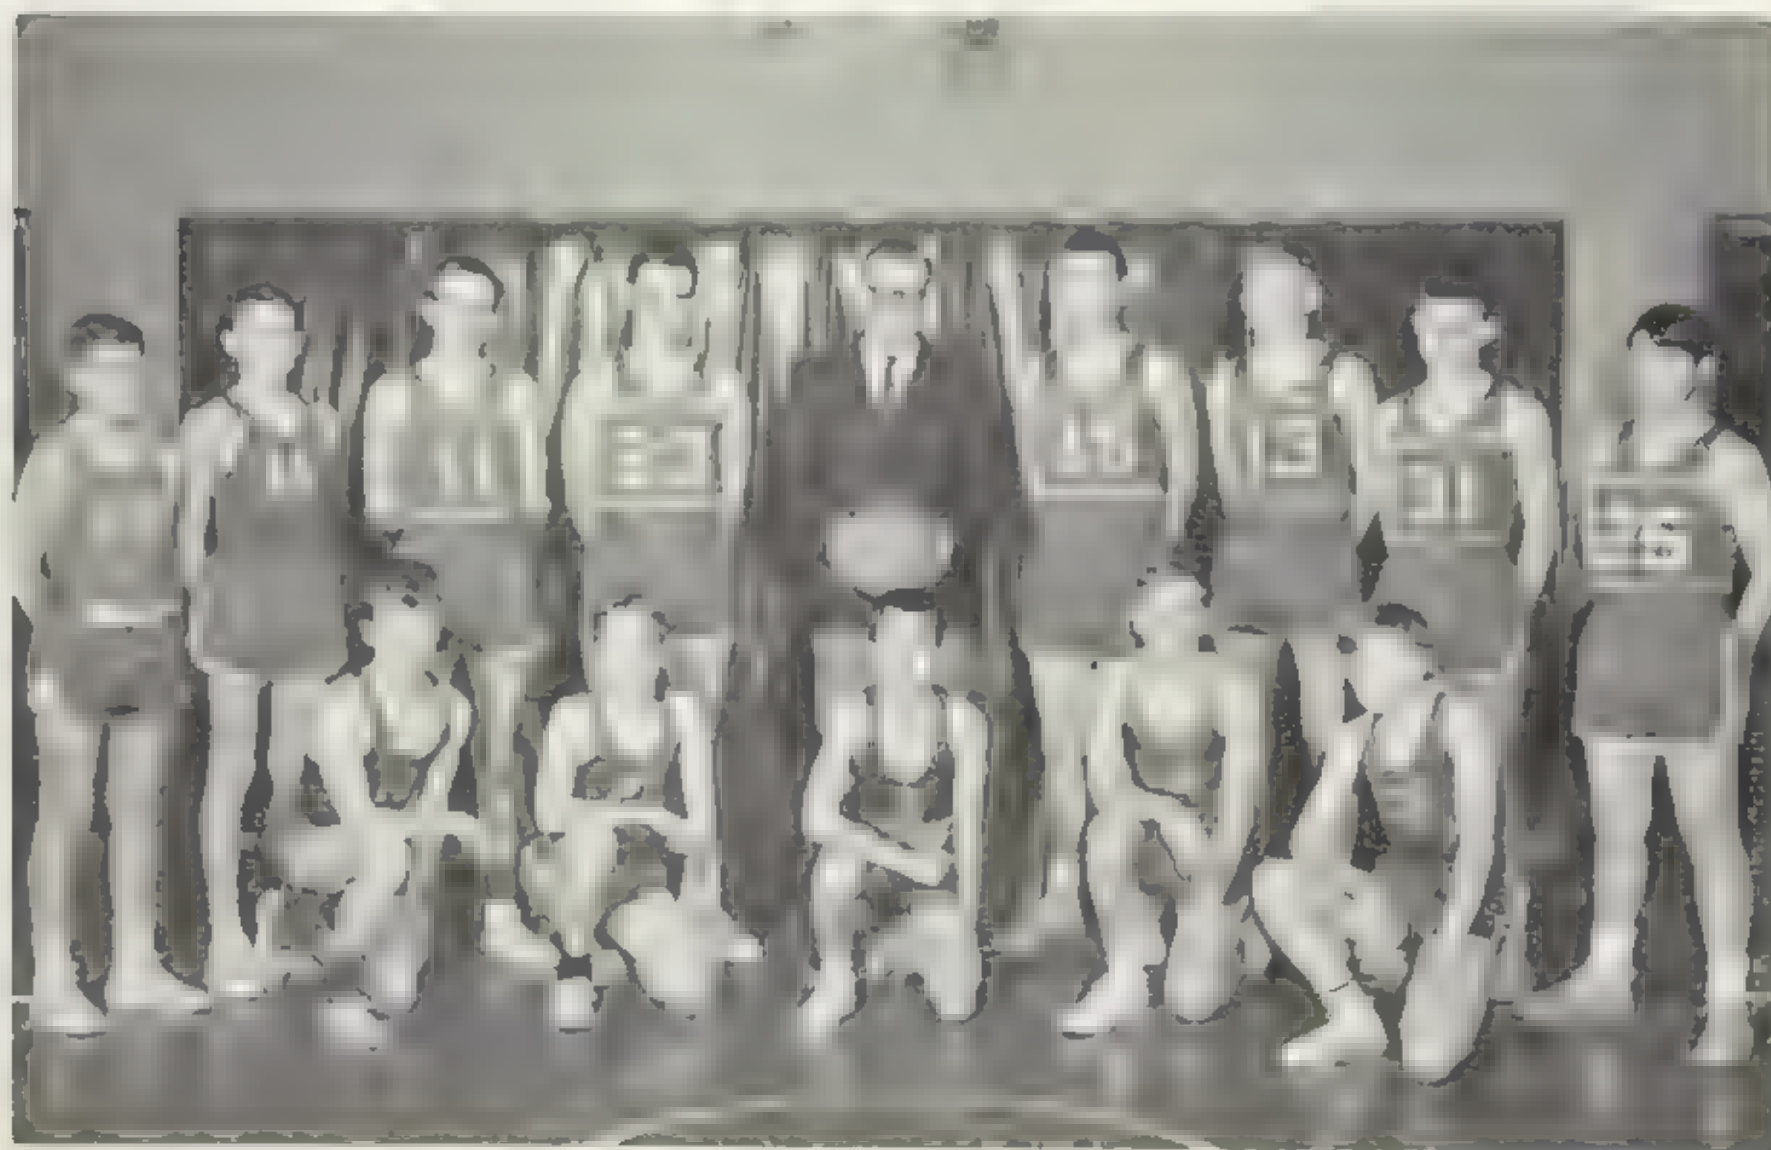

This year's team was made up of one seventh grader, some eighth graders, and several freshmen who will make up the main part of next year's J. V. team, and some of them will undoubtedly help the varsity squad.

Mr. Artley and his team held practice in the Commodore Elementary School building because it gets rather crowded when three teams try to practice on the high school floor.

RED DRAGON THINCLADS HAVE

Second in District; Firsts in County; Three United

The 1966 version of the Purchase Line Track Team, headed by Coach Barry Madill, had a most productive year. Hard work, fine coaching and great determination were the big factors of the season. Three track trophies were won during the season, by the 880 yard relay team at the 3rd United Invitational. The greatest moment was winning the Indiana County Meet over 9 strong teams.

The finest showing of talent was the ten boys, the most ever sent by P.L., who went to State to represent us. They were: Rich Ruben, Andy Rushnok, Charlie Peel, Larry Hickok, Tom Henry, Tom Miller, Denny Anderson, Walt Balitiski, George Berringer and Tom Thomas.

All in all, the 1966 Red Dragon Thinclads have set high standards for future teams to equal or better.

The top five scorers of the year were: Andy Rushnok (136 1/2), Larry Hickok (97 1/2), Walt Balitiski (97 1/2), Charlie Peel (95 1/2), and Tom Henry (95).

At the State Meet, Tom Henry was the only one to place; he won a second in the high jump.

With enthusiasm plus, the Varsity and Junior Varsity Cheerleaders worked energetically to back the Dragon athletic teams and to create enough school spirit among the students to see the guys had ample support on the fields and on the court this year. Determined to raise enough money for bright red jackets for the varsity squad, the girls sold programs and shakers at the games and sponsored bake sales and candy sales during school hours and during the summer months. The Varsity girls did an impressive job in the Derry Area Cheering Contest as they copped fourth place. Their "Round-up" pep rally and Athletics Dance will never be forgotten by the seniors or the underclassmen who observed or participated in them.

We are proud of all of our cheerleaders for their outstanding representation of our school. To them we say "Thanks" and "Congratulations for a job well done!"

SURFIN' '66--MERMAIDS

& MARK FIVE

The Junior-Senior Prom of Purchase Line High School was held in our gymnasium Friday night, May 6, 1966, from eight o'clock to midnight. Upon arriving, the boys were given miniature straw hats, and the girls received small ukuleles. In a little grass hut, the Mark V provided the entertainment for the evening. The decorations for "Surfin' '66" were surfboards with a big red '66 on them, a mermaid illuminated by colored lights, an octopus, sail fish, and life preservers. The tables were adorned with sea shells, coral, and small fish. Various refreshments were served in the hall adjoining the gymnasium. The sponsors for the prom were: Chairman, Mrs. Jerko, Miss Miller, Mr. Scott, Mr. Buchanan, and Mrs. Craft. The Art Students planned their decorations.

The evening did not end at midnight. An informal after-prom party was held from one to six a.m. in Indiana at Ridge Lanes. The Batmen, a local college group, arrived on time in their Batmobile, commonly known as a hearse. To the crash of bowling balls and falling pins, the Batmen played music so the P. L. gang could dance. Many of our students' parents volunteered to chaperone the after-prom party.

of '65-'66

Class Day was truly an "Amateur Hour" as the real personalities of the class of '66 emerged. A variety of acts was presented: Kaylon and Rose Buterbaugh showed their acrobatic talents to an interested audience; the audience watched wide-eyed as quiet Dave Zinza exhibited a great talent for the accordion while several couples showed everyone they could do the Polka as well as the Frug and Monkey, Nancy Suwolitch was a hit as she vocalized to Dave's accompaniments; the school quartet sang a few numbers; and other members contributed either solos or duets. It was a regular "Hullabaloo" as several members of the class danced to the wildest records of the day. Skits were also presented: The FTA and FNA did classroom scenes and a hospital scene respectively; and Sonya Huey, Eva Gardner, and Ruth Hurd presented an extremely comical Smothers Brothers act. The Majorettes were as good as ever when they went through "Mr. Touchdown" and the "Old Routine."

Awards were then presented to some of the more "outstanding" members of the class. The class of '66 then gathered on the stage to sing their chosen song "He" and to shed a few tears. As the others reported to their regular bus, members of the class of '66 completed an absolutely wonderful Class Day with a party in the gymnasium which ended later on that evening.

flect Many Emotions

COMMENCEMENT DAY, May 31, 1966, was both a happy and a sad occasion, not only for the class of 1966, but also for the parents, faculty, and administration. Endless hours of thought were evident as students and administrators presented their speeches to the group.

Student Council president, Tom Henry, spoke on "Our Challenge"; Connie Ober discussed "The Values of Respect"; Sharon Edwards' speech praised "Dedication and Determination." Tom Johnston, class president gave his final talk to his classmates before introducing Mr. Lemaster, who wished each graduate success in future life.

Mr. Clyde Baker, president of the School Board, was introduced by Mr. McElhoes as he began to present each Senior his or her key to the world--that well-earned diploma.

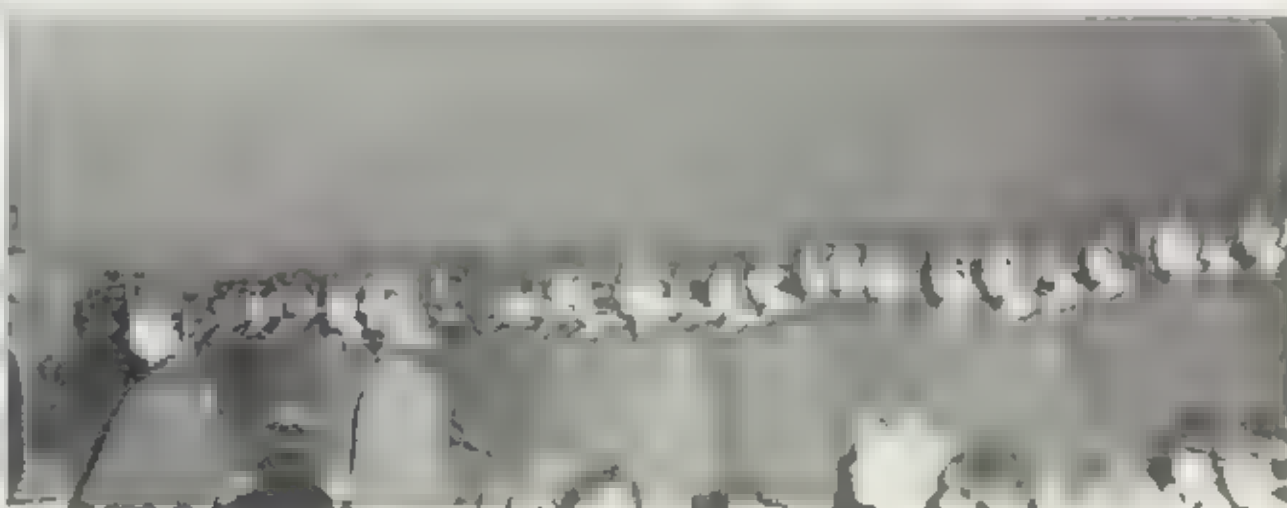

As the class sang the Alma Mater and left its school years behind to "Pomp and Circumstance," one could see tears, smiles, and sometimes looks of relief on their faces!

Junior High Chorus

The Junior High Chorus, newly formed this year, consists of 61 eighth and ninth grade students under the direction of Mrs. Craft.

In the program, Christmas Around the World, the Junior High Chorus sang a few selections pertaining to several foreign countries. They included, "The Christmas Dance of the Shepherd" from Russia, "Nobis Pacem" from Italy, and "Jeanette, Isabella" from France.

The Junior High Chorus also participated in the Spring Concert singing such songs as "Michael Row Your Boat", "Johnny-Go-Round", and "Early in the Morning". They did much toward creating a spring mood.

Mrs. Craft, along with the chorus, deserves a lot of credit for making the Christmas Program and the Spring Concert such a success.

Good Showing at County and District

Outstanding among the musical groups at school this year was the Purchase Line Senior High Chorus directed by Mrs. Craft.

The Chorus is comprised of approximately sixty-five members who are divided into the Soprano, Alto, Tenor and Bass sections. At the beginning of the school year the group elects officers to help Mrs. Craft with the many duties of organizing and conducting a school chorus. This year Dave McKinney was elected Secretary-Treasurer and was assisted by Vonda Lemmon as Librarian.

This Christmas the Chorus presented a pageant with the Junior High Chorus entitled "Christmas Around the World". This group also participated in the Spring Concert and in Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises, held in the high school auditorium.

The Senior High Chorus did an excellent job this year and we are very proud of them.

Senior Play: 1966

In the fall of '65 the seniors chose "Teen Antics" as their class play. With a relatively small cast, the play became a hit not only to junior and senior high, but to the public as well. This was due largely to the supervision of Mrs. Gorman, Miss Hurd, student director, Beverly Paytash, and the surprising performances of the characters. Take, for example, the transformation of one easy-going Esther Barkey into a raging tyrant. Or (another example)--Can anyone imagine Jim Williard to be the strong, silent, dependable type? We didn't believe it either, but their acting certainly convinced us.

The ushers, make-up crew, and stage-hands who worked before, during, and around rehearsal to build the play out of sheer chaos, deserve the undying gratitude of all who saw and enjoyed "Teen Antics".

Homecoming Court '65

The 1965 Purchase Line Homecoming ceremony was held in the gymnasium of the high school due to inclement weather. Each candidate presented herself to an audience of students, teachers, parents and friends to the music of "Moon River" as played by the band. Theresa Seibert was crowned 1965 Homecoming Queen by last year's queen, Sonya Gardner. She and her seven attendants were presented with charm bracelets inscribed "P.L.H.S. 1965 Homecoming Court." The girls were escorted by: Barry Bash, Al Bell, Dennis Hook, Herb Karlinsey, Bill Putt, and Bill Rainey. Paul Yarnal was master of ceremonies.

The Homecoming Dance, held after our victory over the Rams of Elders Ridge, featured the music of Indiana's Jet Tones.

ATHLETICS

Team Work Plus Talent Equals

The Red Dragons of Purchase Line High entered the 1965-1966 football season with great expectations of a successful year. The first game was played against Shade Township, a newcomer to our schedule. The match was close until the fourth quarter; then the Shade offense moved in and they came out on top, 19-0.

Our second game was played against Franklin. This was a close one until the third quarter. While holding the opposition scoreless during the third quarter, the Red Dragons scored fourteen points and won the game, 20-0. Charlie Peel accounted for two of the TD's.

Then came our homecoming which was played against Elders Ridge. During the last half, the Red Dragons went on a scoring spree and won the game, 26-6.

Game number four was against Saltsburg. We played a close game until the second half where the boys scored nineteen points and won 19-7. This was our third win in a row, which tied our school record as Dan Lucas broke the game wide open.

The fifth game was against Penns Manor. We entered the contest with hopes of winning our fourth in a row, breaking the school record, and beating our arch-rivals, but the Comets proved to be too strong and whipped us 34-6.

The Red Dragons then moved to Laura Lamar. It was a close game all the way, but our offense didn't get rolling until the second half of the game. The game ended in their favor 13-0.

Game number seven was played against one of the best Curwensville teams seen in the last few years. This was undoubtedly the toughest team we played all year, and we lost 33-0 to a fine team.

A tough Laurel Valley team was the next Dragon opponent. It was a close game until the second half; then the boys went on a twenty-five point scoring spree and won 31-7. Our defensive players did a tremendous job against the Rams.

The climax of the season came at Forbes. Our Dragons scored nineteen points in the first half and were never behind, thanks to a tremendous effort by the seniors. The game was a victory for Purchase Line, 19-7. This was our fifth win of the season and it marked our first winning football season in the history of Purchase Line High School.

It Was a Great Year to Be A Senior!

Purchase Line owes its first winning football season to four great coaches, Head Coach Bill Scott and Assistant Coaches Barry Madill, Gary Decker, and Bill Bezilla kept us on our toes and the 5-4 season showed that their hard work paid off. When we had bad breaks, they always came up with solutions and never lost faith in us as a team. We as Seniors are proud to have played under them.

Although this was not the best year that we have had as far as winning was concerned, our junior-high football team showed us that they have lots of spunk, drive, spirit, and the desire to win which are qualities for victory. Through this past year's effort, the team gained valuable experience and learned the skills of football so that they will be able to play a better game for Purchase Line in their J. V. and Varsity years. Coach Decker and Coach Bezilla, deserve a lot of credit for molding football players out of these boys.

To the junior-high team of '65 we say thanks for a game well-played, and we'll be looking forward to cheering you on the victory in '66.

A long hard season

The 1966 Purchase Line High School basketball team had a long season. The opening with the 1965 State Champs of Northern Cambria brought the first defeat to the Dragons. For the first few games things were looking pretty low but finally the string of losses was broken when we beat Harmony Joint on our home floor, thus entering the Indiana County League Games with a record of 1-6.

Blairsville proved to be a very strong team as were the other County teams. We defeated Marion Center twice with Rink Matko starring in the first game with 29 points and Dave McKinney coming through with 25 points in the second game.

In the Indiana County Tournament we put forth a united effort in defeating Marion Center which placed us in the Tournament play off game with the Wildcats of Laura Lamar. We played our best in this final game, leading our opponents most of the way. Even though we did play a great game we fell short of being the Indiana Class A Tournament Champions by 4 points.

We felt that we played our best in most of the games but we were just out-manned; we feel now that sometimes losing taught us more than winning. Many times we had to pick ourselves up and start over with the help of our fine coaches, Mr. Broctious and Mr. Harshman. Although we didn't have a winning season, we learned quite a bit about the game of basketball. We also learned to respect the talents of other teams.

High Scorer--Ray Matko--277 pts. Most Fouls Made--Tom Henry--77. *Most Consecutive Number of Foul Shots--Dave McKinney--13 in one Game. *Best Foul Shooting %--Dave McKinney--80%. Most Rebounds--Gene Rickard--229. Best Field Goal %--Tom Henry--35%.

Wrestling & Basketball for Little Liners

This year's Junior High basketball team did not finish the season with as many wins as they wanted; but in all of their games, they showed lots of hustle and a very fine team spirit. Their 1-12 record does not show anything about the hard fought games that were lost in the later stages of the contest. Coach Artley did a fine job with this group of boys, and we feel that most of these boys will make fine basketball players in future years.

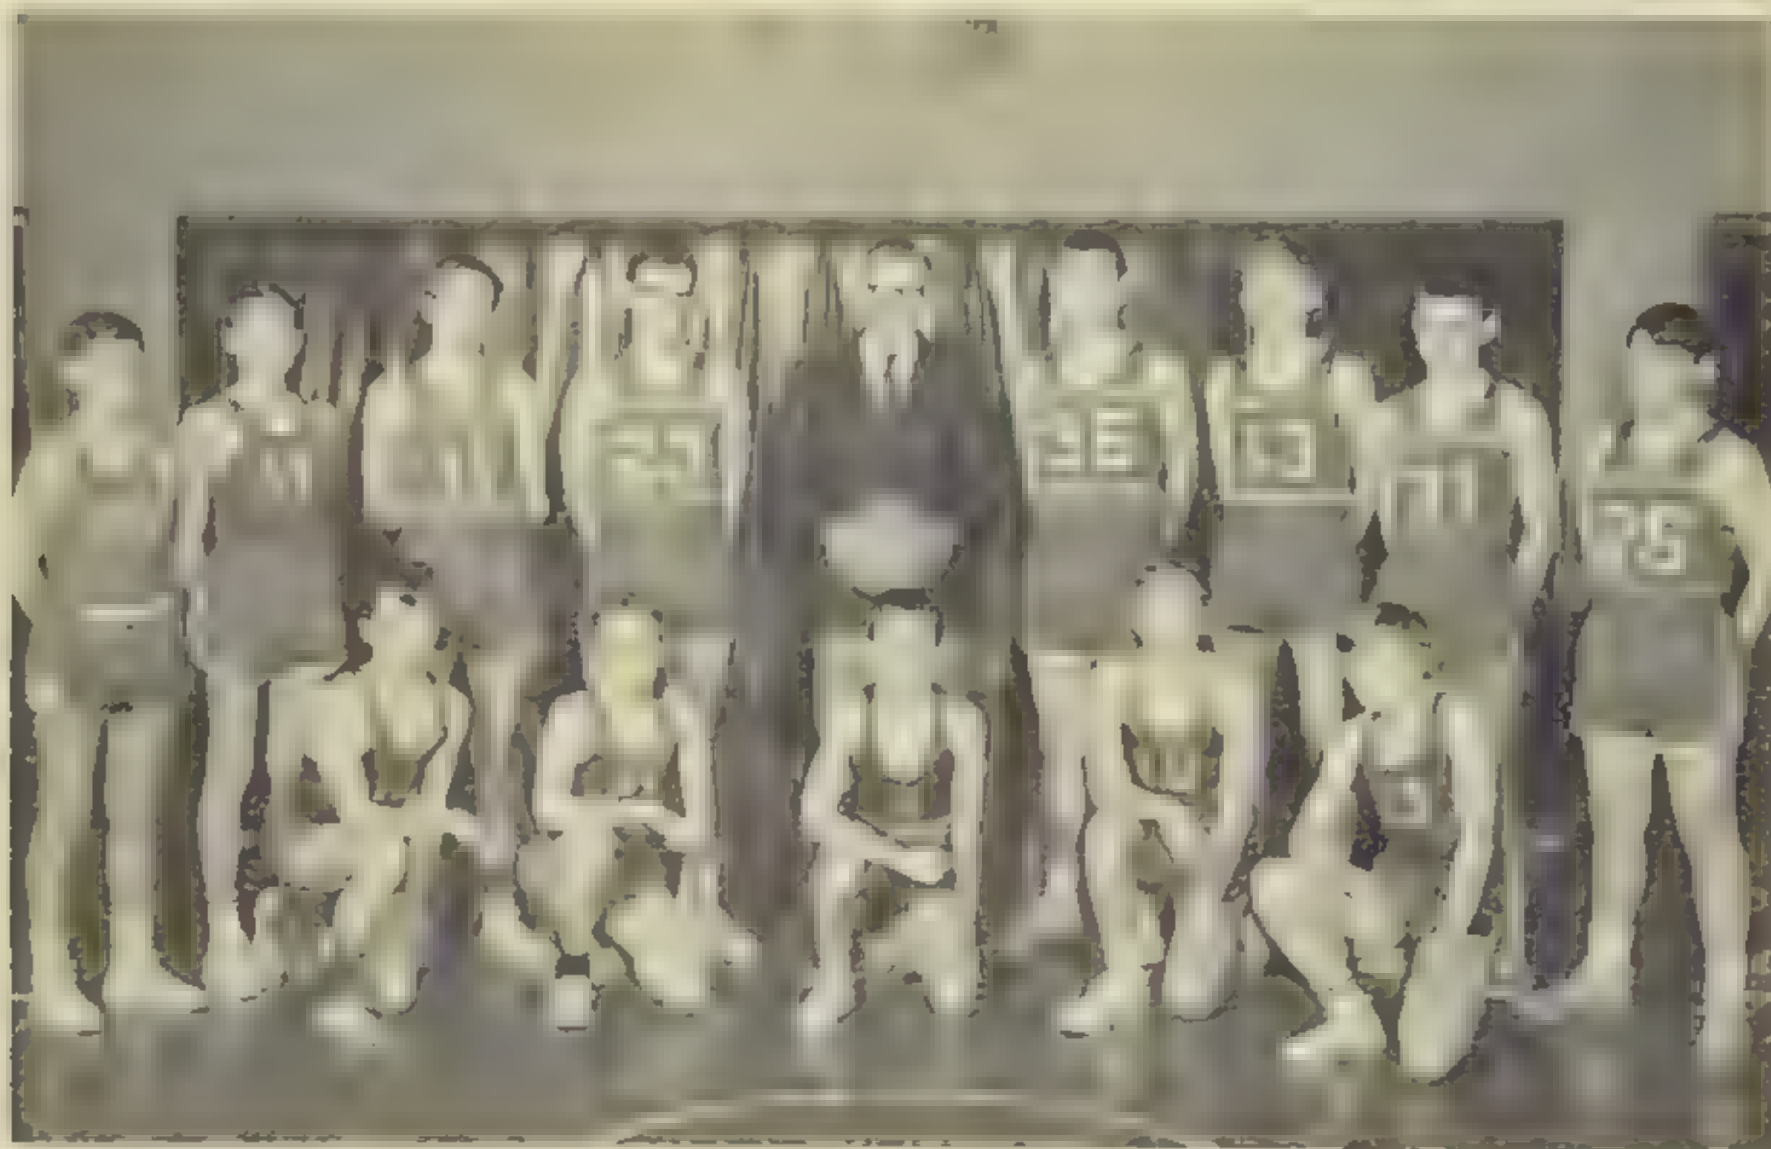

This year's team was made up of one seventh grader, some eighth graders, and several freshmen who will make up the main part of next year's J. V. team, and some of them will undoubtedly help the varsity squad.

Mr. Artley and his team held practice in the Commodore Elementary School building because it gets rather crowded when three teams try to practice on the high school floor.

RED DRAGON THINCLADS HAVE

Second in District; Firsts in County; Three United

The 1966 version of the Purchase Line Track Team, headed by Coach Barry Madill, had a most productive year. Hard work, fine coaching and great determination were the big factors of the season. Three track trophies were won during the season, by the 880 yard relay team at the 3rd United Invitational. The greatest moment was winning the Indiana County Meet over 9 strong teams.

The finest showing of talent was the ten boys, the most ever sent by P.L., who went to State to represent us. They were: Rich Ruben, Andy Rushnok, Charlie Peel, Larry Hickok, Tom Henry, Tom Miller, Denny Anderson, Walt Balitiski, George Berringer and Tom Thomas.

All in all, the 1966 Red Dragon Thinclads have set high standards for future teams to equal or better.

The top five scorers of the year were: Andy Rushnok (136 1/2), Larry Hickok (97 1/2), Walt Balitiski (97 1/2), Charlie Peel (95 1/2), and Tom Henry (95).

At the State Meet, Tom Henry was the only one to place; he won a second in the high jump.

Records Set:

880 run	Tom Miller	2:04.7
880 relay	Andy Rushnok	1:35.1
	Rich Ruben
	Charlie Peel
	Larry Hickok
Mile relay	Walt Balitski	3:38.8
	Charlie Peel
	Rich Ruben

With enthusiasm plus, the Varsity and Junior Varsity Cheerleaders worked energetically to back the Dragon athletic teams and to create enough school spirit among the students to see the guys had ample support on the fields and on the court this year. Determined to raise enough money for bright red jackets for the varsity squad, the girls sold programs and shakers at the games and sponsored bake sales and candy sales during school hours and during the summer months. The Varsity girls did an impressive job in the Derry Area Cheering Contest as they copped fourth place. Their "Round-up" pep rally and Athletics Dance will never be forgotten by the seniors or the underclassmen who observed or participated in them.

We are proud of all of our cheerleaders for their outstanding representation of our school. To them we say "Thanks" and "Congratulations for a job well done!"

SURFIN' '66--MERMAIDS

& MARK FIVE

The Junior-Senior Prom of Purchase Line High School was held in our gymnasium Friday night, May 6, 1966, from eight o'clock to midnight. Upon arriving, the boys were given miniature straw hats, and the girls received small ukuleles. In a little grass hut, the Mark V provided the entertainment for the evening. The decorations for "Surfin' '66" were surfboards with a big red '66 on them, a mermaid illuminated by colored lights, an octopus, sail fish, and life preservers. The tables were adorned with sea shells, coral, and small fish. Various refreshments were served in the hall adjoining the gymnasium. The sponsors for the prom were: Chairman, Mrs. Jerko, Miss Miller, Mr. Scott, Mr. Buchanan, and Mrs. Craft. The Art Students planned their decorations.

The evening did not end at midnight. An informal after-prom party was held from one to six a.m. in Indiana at Ridge Lanes. The Batmen, a local college group, arrived on time in their Batmobile, commonly known as a hearse. To the crash of bowling balls and falling pins, the Batmen played music so the P. L. gang could dance. Many of our students' parents volunteered to chaperone the after-prom party.

Class Day was truly an "Amateur Hour" as the real personalities of the class of '66 emerged. A variety of acts was presented: Kaylon and Rose Buterbaugh showed their acrobatic talents to an interested audience; the audience watched wide-eyed as quiet Dave Zinza exhibited a great talent for the accordion while several couples showed everyone they could do the Polka as well as the Frug and Monkey, Nancy Suwolitch was a hit as she vocalized to Dave's accompaniments; the school quartet sang a few numbers; and other members contributed either solos or duets. It was a regular "Hullabaloo" as several members of the class danced to the wildest records of the day. Skits were also presented: The FTA and FNA did classroom scenes and a hospital scene respectively; and Sonya Huey, Eva Gardner, and Ruth Hurd presented an extremely comical Smothers Brothers act. The Majorettes were as good as ever when they went through "Mr. Touchdown" and the "Old Routine."

Awards were then presented to some of the more "outstanding" members of the class. The class of '66 then gathered on the stage to sing their chosen song "He" and to shed a few tears. As the others reported to their regular bus, members of the class of '66 completed an absolutely wonderful Class Day with a party in the gymnasium which ended later on that evening.

flect Many Emotions

COMMENCEMENT DAY, May 31, 1966, was both a happy and a sad occasion, not only for the class of 1966, but also for the parents, faculty, and administration. Endless hours of thought were evident as students and administrators presented their speeches to the group.

Student Council president, Tom Henry, spoke on "Our Challenge"; Connie Ober discussed "The Values of Respect"; Sharon Edwards' speech praised "Dedication and Determination." Tom Johnston, class president gave his final talk to his classmates before introducing Mr. Lemaster, who wished each graduate success in future life.

Mr. Clyde Baker, president of the School Board, was introduced by Mr. McElhoes as he began to present each Senior his or her key to the world--that well-earned diploma.

As the class sang the Alma Mater and left its school years behind to "Pomp and Circumstance," one could see tears, smiles, and sometimes looks of relief on their faces!

F.F.A., GREEN HAND FARMER DEGREE, CHAPTER FARMER DEGREE

I'm not afraid of tomorrow . .

I've seen yesterday and love today.

Senior Class Officers: Dave McKinney, Vice President; Sharon Edwards, Secretary; Charlie Peel, Treasurer; Tom Johnston, President; Beverly Paytash, Chaplain.

The moment we entered P.L. everyone agreed that the class of '66 was really going to be "different". Perhaps a little too fun-loving, and very often stubborn and rebellious, we've brought many a headache to many a teacher. Yet, despite this (or maybe because of it) we feel that both groups have adapted well to each other.

Our six years at P.L. have been filled with parties, dances, proms, elections, and a great number of other unmentionable events.

These things are all part of the past now, but such a special part that no one really minds. In the years to come a white rosebud, the colors green and white, the song "He" will remind us of just how wonderful those six years have been. As we remember the laughs (and tears) that we've shared and the memories that were made, we may laugh, and maybe we'll cry, but one thing we'll never, ever do is forget!

GLORIA ANN BARRETT

"Gloria" "Oh Bull!"

Gloria was known far and wide for her "dynamic" personality ... always in the center of everything ... could outdo anyone on the dance floor ... this girl's likes range from boys to talking to anything Navy blue ... her dislikes center around very stubborn people ... future plans include college

JANET LOUISE SUNDERLAND

"Jan" "Ah, shut up, Barry."

An energetic girl with a friendly smile for all ... could usually be found in the hall with Barry ... enjoys being around people ... dislikes getting up in the morning and going to bed at night ... future plans include enrolling in an art school.

F. B. I., A., CHORUS, STAGE CREW, LIBRARY TID BOARD

JAMES ALLEN CPSSNA

"Jim" "Let's eat lunch."

Our boy Jim has a very humble ambition---all he wants out of life is a Sting Ray and a Rolls Royce ... likes cars, trucks, and art class ... dislikes school and teachers ... future plans include working (to pay for his Sting Ray and Rolls Royce)

STAGE CREW

Senior Class Advisors

Mr. Buchanan, Mrs. Schrock, Mr. Mahan, Mrs. Jerko, and Mr. Scott relax for a few moments before working on some of the problems of the class of 1966.

One Step to Go!

Junior Class Advisors: Miss Miller, Mr. Kuntz, Mrs. Craft, Mr. Broclous, Mr. Peron

Junior Class Officers: Jack Schultz, chaplain; Susan Mattis, treasurer; Mary Stephanson, secretary; George Berringer, President. Jim Klucherosky, vice president, was absent.

Christmas Party Royalty: Don Fridley, Peggy Patrick, Linda Coalmer, Sam Powell.

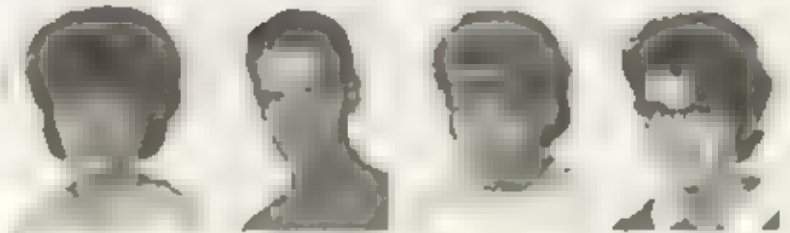

The Juniors help to plan such activities as the Magazine Sale, Christmas Party and Prom in their first class meetings. But the eleventh grade means much more to them than activities; it is a time for future planning with help of interviews, continuous guidance tests and the casual advice of their many teachers and friends. Many new fields of learning are uncovered and many challenges faced when the Juniors attempt their first term papers, meet Rene Descartes and Lavoisier as they are exposed to Chemistry and geometry, or try to make their bookkeeping come out in the black! They face an even more challenging tomorrow and being Juniors, they look forward eagerly to the day when they take over the Senior Class.
